

"Impactful Leadership" Half-day Seminar for Emerging Leaders

What does it mean to be a character-based leader? What are key characteristics of effective leaders? Why do leaders fail?

Every one of us is a leader in some facet of our lives, whether in the home, at school, in the workplace, or as a volunteer. The “Impactful Leadership” seminar is for those who want to grow and develop as a leader.

Through the lens of character, the seminar explores the distinction between managing and leading and other dynamics of leadership. Throughout the session, you will engage in discussion with other character-minded leaders and peers to discover and clarify those values that are key to your success.

Topics and exercises:

- Why leaders succeed and why they fail
- Clarifying your values
- Five levels of leadership
- Character-based practices for leaders
- Managing change
- Battling negativity
- Preventing problem employees

What you will take away from this workshop:

- Inspiration to lead with character
- Leadership skills

Who should attend this seminar?

Any person who desires to take their skills to the next level, to build organizational culture on a foundation of character, and to prepare themselves as the next generation of leaders in their homes, career, or volunteer role.

“...the most inspirational take on leadership skills I have experienced.”

- Pam Anderson, Team Leader, Advantage RN

“A breath of pure life for us. You sparked positive change for our leadership team and I am very grateful.”

- Bishop Larry Dempsey, Hope for You Church
